$2,000 DAMAGE, TWO INJURED

A young boy is fascinated at the sight of a car resting on a lawn, after a 1964 Oldsmobile Tuesday at Lawrence Ave. and Ebbel St. at 2:45 p.m. Two people were taken to hospital and damage is estimated at $2,000. Drivers were Vicki M. Lauer, 1964 Oldsmobile St. and Beatrice Johnson, 1962 Mayne St. Mrs. Ruby Vanson, 1272 Ebbel St., a passenger in the Johnson car and 16-month-old Darryl Lauer, were treated at the Kelowna General Hospital and released.

Police Crush Saigon Riots

SAMGON (AP) — Riot police backed by paratroops broke up a series of anti-government demonstrations in Saigon today after the South Vietnamese capital's mayor banned a massive Buddhist "march of peace" against Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime.

Several persons were injured and a number of Buddhist monks and nuns were arrested as police scattered the demonstrators with tear gas.

Ky's opponents demonstrated peacefully in three other cities, including the northern Buddhist stronghold of Hue, while government supporters rallied in another.

The U.S. military command ordered all Americans off Saigon's streets in anticipation of trouble during the scheduled

Oregon Comes Out In Favor Of Strong Johnson Backer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Duncan, President Johnson's champion in an Oregon campaign focused on Viet Nam, captured today state's Democratic Senate nomination for the November general election and Republican talk of nationwide voter uneasiness about the Asian war.

In Duncan's runaway victory Tuesday over peace candidate Howard Morgan, advocates of the U.S. stance in South Viet Nam could find at least a partial answer to the Republican report.

Duncan, a two-term congressman, and Morgan, a former member of the Federal Power Commission, stood together on domestic matters. They argued only about Viet Nam. Morgan called U.S. involvement there a tragic error; Duncan said it is necessary.

With 1,437 of 2,946 Oregon voting districts reporting, Duncan had 64 per cent of the votes, Morgan 33 per cent and a third candidate three per cent.

Location Of 'King Freddie' Unknown In Uganda Crisis

KAMPALA (AP) — The Ugandan government captured today the palace of the rebellious king of the Buganda region Tuesday night. But the fate of "King Freddie" was not known.

The 41-year-old monarch of Uganda's biggest and richest region was variously reported missing, dead, or under arrest.

One report to London said the Ugandan Army had set the palace on fire and killed 200 of the king's bodyguards.

Ugandan President Milton Obote's government said its security troops attacked the brick-walled palace compound at Mengo, on the southwest outskirts of Kampala, after it was learned that arms were being distributed there to mobs. The troops seized the palace after an

Munsinger Probe Closes On Note Of Inaccuracies

OTTAWA (CP) — The Munsinger security inquiry ended Tuesday with questions about the source of Justice Minister Cardin's wrong information that Gerda Munsinger's name was Olga Munsinger and that she had died of leukemia in Germany.

Mr. Justice Wishart Spence, head of the inquiry, gave no indication as to when he will make his report to the cabinet. The commission heard 10 witnesses at 10 open hearings. It also had three known secret sessions.

Jules Dupre, counsel for Pierre Savigny, former Conservative associate justice minister, noted that Mr. Cardin on March 4 and 11 in the Commons had referred to the "Munsinger" case and at a press conference March 10 had stated that the RCMP had received a report that the German divorcee had died of leukemia.

Mr. Dupre then recalled the testimony of Jacqueline Desjardins, a Montreal friend of Mrs. Munsinger, that she had told Montreal lawyer Hubert Desjardins and financier John Doyle in November, 1964, that

Justice 'Sliced Up Like Turkey'

OTTAWA (CP) — The minority Liberal government was accused Tuesday of everything but progress by an opposition that said its extensive administrative shuffle either goes too far or not far enough.

A government reorganization bill undergoing second reading has major effects on about eight departments. Debate continues today, with clause-by-clause study ahead.

New Democrat MPs said the government should have created departments of economic affairs and consumer affairs, as well as a powerful federal office of education.

Conservative spokesman called the Justice Minister Pearson and some of his French-language

Royal Navy Backs Away From Strike

LONDON (AP) — The government kept a Royal Navy frigate out of the Thames today, for fear its presence would cause trouble with striking merchant seamen.

The frigate Eastbourne was to have taken part in ceremonies marking the freedom of Greenwich to the Royal Navy College there.

"It was considered dangerous at this time to show the white ensign (the navy's flag) in the Thames," an official of the port of London said.

London's docks, crowded with strikebound ships, extend down the Thames past Greenwich.

Strike leaders expect the government to send the Royal Navy into the ports of London and Liverpool this week to move shipping from the docks so foreign ships can get in and out.

Leaders of the 65,000-member national union of seamen have warned that other workers may join in the strike if navy men are used as strikebreakers.

U.K. Bandits Net $294,000

LONDON (Reuters) — Five armed and masked men attacked an armored truck Wednesday and made off with its £28,000 ($294,000) load.

It was believed to be the second-largest robbery of cash in transit in Britain. The biggest was in the 1963 great train robbery when bandits grabbed £2,000,000 ($7,000,000) from an armoured mail train.

In Wednesday's robbery — latest in a series of attacks on banks and security trucks — the bandits pushed double-barrelled shotguns through the truck windows, forced the driver to open the door and made him drive them away.

The other two truck guards were inside the bank delivering cash.

The raiders abandoned the armored car half a mile away with the driver locked inside and went off in another vehicle with the money — bank notes in canvas bags.

Routine Test Proves Fatal

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP) — A routine test turned into tragedy Tuesday when a helicopter struck a radio transmission tower on the side of Mount Seymour and two workmen plunged 250 feet to their deaths.

The helicopter crashed, exploded and burned but the pilot, Robert M. Hansen, 30, was thrown clear. He was in poor condition following emergency surgery.

Killed were Joseph Jacob Vener, 30, of Burnaby, and Robert Smith, 36, of Cloverdale, B.C. steelworkers employed by Western Bridge Ltd. who had climbed the tower only five minutes before the accident.

Checking to see if it was feasible to hook a line from the helicopter to the tower, they had planned to unbolt the top 20-foot section for removal.

The helicopter blade chopped through the tower five feet below where the men were working. The men, a chunk of tower and the helicopter plummeted to the ground in a shower of debris.

The crash was the second in the area involving a helicopter within the past five days. A pilot and two passengers escaped uninjured Saturday when a helicopter fell 40 feet.

Strike At Coast Spreads Across To North Shore

VANCOUVER (CP) — Virtually all municipal services in suburban North Vancouver were at a standstill today as a strike of Vancouver's outside workers spread to the North Shore.

The North Vancouver strikers, 100 outside and inside workers, started picketing district offices and schools Tuesday.

In Vancouver, meanwhile, there was no indication that the city's 1,500 garbage collectors, parks maintenance men and gravediggers will be back on the job in the near future.

The North Vancouver local of the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) represents all non-managerial employees of North Vancouver city and district, school board, sewage treatment and the North Shore health unit.

Twenty-five students left classes at one North Vancouver school when the strike started, ostensibly to honor a union picket line.

Another 250 students who held part time jobs and are members of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Clerks Union (RWDSU) were advised by union officials that no action will be taken against those who cross the picket lines to go to school.

In Burnaby, a dispute between 500 members of the Burnaby local of the CUPE and the municipality will go to conciliation sometime next week.

Kelowna Parking Lot Set-Up Being Reviewed By Council

Kelowna's downtown parking problem is receiving further study at city hall.

City council decided Tuesday night to check the parking lot situation after receiving a letter from the chamber of commerce.

The chamber's letter reviewed suggestions made in recent months regarding city-owned and operated lots and recommended a review of monthly parking rates.

The situation will be serious this summer if something is not done, the chamber letter said.

The chamber said there was a waiting list of people wishing to use the area parking lot and many current users were not city taxpayers.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson asked Ald. W. T. L. Roadhouse to ask the parking committee to review the situation again, particularly the monthly parking rates and the matter will be discussed again by the council next Monday.

The city's staff administration committee submitted a report reviewing the occupancy rate of city-controlled lots. Some parking is still available, the report said, and the situation was being reviewed by the parking commission, with a view to making more parking available.

In another matter, the chamber wrote regarding proposed comfort stations in the downtown area. The matter was brought up several weeks ago by the mayor, but most aldermen felt such stations would not be practical because of the amount of supervision they would require.

Several aldermen said Tuesday night they felt major city stores should provide comfort stations.

The matter was turned over to the city's staff administration committee.

Heath In 'Courteous Disarray' As Wily Wilson Wins Again

LONDON (CP) — Glum Tories moaned today they had the chance to nail Prime Minister Wilson to the mast only to find he had slipped from their hands through the confused bungling of Tory Leader Edward Heath.

"Oh, Duncan, Duncan, the Tories had need of you yesterday," lamented the Conservative-supporting Daily Mail in reporting Tuesday's Commons debate on Tory charges that Wilson had "grossly misled" the House over British commitment in the strategic Aden base.

Duncan Sandys, former Commonwealth secretary, had initiated the charge against Wilson, maintaining Wilson had failed to tell the House the South Arabian government feared withdrawal of British forces from Aden in 1968 would lead to an Egyptian takeover.

He charged also that Wilson kept from the House appeals from the South Arabians for a British defence pact after South Arabia becomes independent in two years.

The charges grew to such an extent that Wilson finally agreed to make a further statement Tuesday. Then he calmly informed the Opposition the reason why he previously hadn't disclosed that the South Arabians were "distressed" was simply because he wasn't asked.

Moreover, Colonial Secretary Barbara Castle had informed the House last March that the South Arabians wanted British military protection after 1968, Wilson added.

Sandys, who made himself disarray,

EDWARD HEATH ... where was Duncan?

an expert on the issue, was absent from the House Tuesday and Heath, who apparently failed to grasp everything Wilson said, protested he could find nothing in the March 9 official Commons report dealing with the issue.

"Hear, hear," cried his supporters, convinced they had caught Wilson once again.

"March 7, not March 9," said Wilson gently.

Heath, a galled, scrambled through another bundle of documents and then rose to his feet to apologize in what The Daily Mail described as "courteous disarray."

Dead Man's Wife Charged In 'Love-Triangle Murder'

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — from her parents home in a dramatic, day-long manhunt in a desolate swampland hamlet, police said, killed her husband, charged with murder in the slaying of an Indiana factory worker.

Stewart, 30, surrendered Tuesday to a state trooper, apparently unaware that the dead man's wife also was charged with the murder of 35-year-old Larry Schmidt, Stewart said he was innocent.

In a bizarre twist to a sensational case, police in Marion, Ind., jailed Schmidt's wife, Edith, 27, and quoted her as saying that she and Stewart were lovers who had plotted her husband's death 48 hours before he was killed May 8.

The woman had told police Sunday that Stewart killed her husband over an $50 debt, kidnapped her and her two children and took them on a 10-day "trip of terror."

It was her first story, told the posse searching for him.

Marion Police Chief Ted Null quoted Mrs. Schmidt as saying that she and Stewart used a knife to kill her husband, then a hack saw to cut off his arms and legs.

However, Prosecutor Robert Foust said he did not think Mrs. Schmidt committed the actual slaying but believed she was a conspirator in what he described as a love-triangle murder.

While Mrs. Schmidt was being pilloated herself in the slaying, police said, Stewart walked out of the woods near this southern Indiana town, laid a side against a tree, and gave himself up. He said he would have surrendered "sooner" but was afraid he would be shot by the posse searching for him.

NAMES IN NEWS

Bennett Says 'No Joke' On Offer For CNR Line

Premier Bennett said Tuesday he was bound over on head of the offer to buy the $1,000 million Canadian National Railway court trial. No date was set.

A cabinet within the cabinet is developing almost automatically but not too effectively, Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Tuesday.

Sidney Charles Appleby, 32, charged with armed robbery, remained at large Tuesday in the Kamloops area. Police said $1,000 was taken from an elderly man who lives in a cabin 40 miles north of here.

The search has ended for an alleged booby-trapped package believed to have been mailed by Paul Charrier, who died when a bomb blast ripped a washroom near the Commons chamber Wednesday. RCMP Superintendent G. B. Engel, head of the civil investigation bureau in Victoria said Tuesday "unfounded confusion over names caused people to think" the package had been mailed to Charrier's wife, who lives under another name at Salmo, B.C.

A heraldic stained-glass window in memory of Lord Beesbrook will be unveiled and dedicated today in the parish church of Mickleham, in the Surrey countryside where the Canadian-born publisher made his home.

Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday he expects to receive a report on the CBC producers' dispute shortly.

Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker agreed Tuesday that Parliament's security system should not be tightened without a prior debate in the Commons.

Lord Mountbatten of Burma, admiral of the fleet and uncle of the Duke of Edinburgh, has recovered from a weekend chill, a member of his household said Tuesday in London.

The body of Charles Henry Bell, 18, of Sacramento, was recovered Tuesday from the Elbow River about 21 miles west of Revelstoke. His car plunged down a 20-foot embankment Saturday and dropped into the river.

The B.C. centennial committee in Victoria issued a call Tuesday for "agitated men" to enter the Fraser River canoe races this August and a 1,500-mile voyage past Cape Horn. Committee chairman E. J. Walcott said six-man teams will meet in Kamloops June 18-19 for the trials to qualify as B.C. representatives in the international competition.

Magistrate James Bartman today ordered two men committed to Vancouver for trial on a charge of capital murder. Arthur Durning, 31, and Edward Dowe, 32, were charged after the badly-beaten body of William Verhart, 31, was found in Stanley Park March 18. The magistrate ordered two prosecution witnesses to appear.

Threat On Life Causes Stir In 'Frisco Murder Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — From the bench, a startled judge reported a threat to the life of a murder case defendant Monday — touching off a screaming, shouting and tearful uproar.

The defendant, saloon owner Richard Rock, lurched against a desk sobbing. His pregnant wife tore away from a bailiff and ran to her husband's arms, tears drenching her face.

Rock, 33, and four others are charged with murdering Don Wilson, 40, leader of AFL-CIO painters union local 4 who had challenged the handling of money in a Sacramento painters union welfare fund.

Police still are hunting the triggerman.

A telephone rang in Superior Court as Judge Francis McCarty was hearing a plea that Rock be freed on bail. A bailiff answered and then went to the bench where he whispered to the judge.

Judge McCarty, relaying the information, said an anonymous voice had asked a court clerk by telephone to tell the judge that "if Rock goes on bail, he is dead."

During the resulting turmoil, the judge denied bail and criticized the lawyer for forbidding the bailiff to restrain Mrs. Rock. The lawyer used his legal peremptory right to disqualify the judge from the case.

MUNSINGER INQUIRY ENDS

Jack Campbell, counsel for Mr. Cardin, said Mr. Dupre had drawn a "red herring" into the inquiry.

Mr. Dupre said Miss Dehorne had testified she had been introduced to Mrs. Munsinger by Mr. Ducharme as "Olga Monseigneur." From correspondence with Mrs. Munsinger after she returned to Germany from Canada in 1961 and which had suddenly stopped, Miss Dehorne believed Mrs. Munsinger had died of leukemia.

She had met Mr. Ducharme and Mr. Doyle at an airport en route to Nassau in November. Mr. Ducharme had asked after "Olga Monseigneur" and had told him in the presence of Mr. Doyle that the woman had died of leukemia.

Mr. Dupre said Mr. Cardin had reported "the very words" suggested by Miss Dehorne to Ducharme and Mr. Doyle. These were "extraordinary facts."

Mr. Justice Spence commented that Miss Dehorne "invented it with a good deal of ease."

MADE MISTAKE

Later, the judge said Mr. Cardin had "quite evidently" made a mistake by mixing up an RCMP report and the "gossip going around" about the Munsinger case.

Mr. Dupre, in his final two-hour summation, appealed to Mr. Justice Spence to "rehabilitate the reputation of a man of devoted service who has devoted so much of his person and his capacities to his beloved country."

At one point, Mr. Dupre said: "Put yourself in the place of Mr. Seavoy."

"Oh, no, I won't do that," Mr. Justice Spence said.

Senior Citizen Building Plans Delayed Again

A location for Kelowna's proposed senior citizens' centre is still causing problems at city hall.

City council was told Tuesday night that a building proposed for the civic centre complex near the Memorial Arena would probably be too small within 10 years.

The report came from the city's staff planning committee, which was asked by council to examine plans for the building.

The senior citizens are now using a building considered too small for their membership and the planning committee feels the organization will continue to grow.

In the past five years the organization's membership has ranged from 281 to 452 and the proposed building would handle only 150 to 175 people comfortably.

NO PRIVACY

Among other things, the planning committee said the proposed site would offer no real privacy outside green space, particularly with the busy arena located nearby.

The committee recommended that a site decision be postponed until the city's urban renewal survey is completed and that the proposed building be discussed fully with various city agencies to ensure adequate facilities for at least 10 to 15 years.

Ald. J. W. Bedford said it was time to get on with the project and stop dangleing the seniors on a string. He said they were anxious to have a place of their own and it "does not have to be elaborate."

Commenting on a planning committee suggestion that the building be located in City Park, Ald. D. A. Chapman said he was against further building in the park.

PARK OUT
Mayor R. F. Parkinson agreed, saying more part building had been rejected in past years by the public.

Ald. Chapman agreed the senior citizens' group might experience a membership increase during the years, but said he doubted if the entire membership would ever use a building for any single function.

Ald. Bedford agreed there was not much point discussing the matter further until the urban renewal survey result was known. A Vancouver firm has been hired by the city to conduct the survey.

Mayor Parkinson pointed out the city might lose some outside financial aid for the building if the project was delayed too long.

The council decided to await the Vancouver firm's recommendations and discuss the matter again in one month.

Central Valley Scout Official Resigns As Interest Fades

A lack of adult interest prompted the resignation Tuesday of a top official of the Central Okanagan District Council, Boy Scouts of Canada.

William Cleaver, resigned after two years as district president, effective June 30. He said his decision was "after due consideration and as a result of the obvious lack of support from adult citizens in the interests of the scout movement."

He said group committees, which support individual packs and troops, were active and scout and cub groups strong, but people were reluctant to serve on the district council, the administrative end. The district council guides and supports scouting activities from Peachland to Winfield.

SEEKS VOLUNTEERS

Mr. Cleaver will discontinue his duties as secretary, badge secretary, public relations officer and council representative on the Kelowna and District Community Chest.

The district president said he hopes some public-spirited people will volunteer to serve non-uniformed members who the boy scouts as executive kept them going in this area.

members of the Central Okanagan council. Any one wishing to volunteer should contact Mr. Cleaver.

He said cub packs and scout troops are as active and strong as ever and will continue to thrive. He thanked leaders and people who volunteer to serve non-uniformed members who the boy scouts as executive kept them going in this area.

City Hospital Technicians Attend Kamloops Courses

Four technicians from the Kelowna General Hospital are attending a week-long course in Kamloops this week.

The course is a week-long course in medical technology, including radiology, pathology, microbiology, and clinical chemistry. The technicians are attending the course at the Kamloops General Hospital.

Sunny???

The sun should come out today according to the Okanagan forecast.

It should be mainly sunny today and Thursday morning, clouding over in the afternoon with little change in temperature.

The low expected tonight and the expected high Thursday at Pentlon, 50 and 75.

The high in Kelowna Tuesday was 69 and the low was 53. This compares with a high and low of 70 and 42 on the same date last year.

On the Corner...

A documentary film on Vietnam will be shown in the Alliance Church auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday. The film, called "Viet Nam Profile," is a feature length movie produced by Dr. Bob Pierce, an accredited war correspondent and the founder of World Vision Inc.

Two of the Okanagan's best-known hockey players are back in the Valley for the summer and ready to teach youngsters some of the tricks picked up in professional hockey. Larry Hale and Larry Land, both members of the Western Hockey League Seattle Totems, will conduct their annual hockey school in Summerland, Aug. 1 to 27.

Kelowna friends of F. F. Baines, formerly manager of the Kelowna franchise of the Montreal Canadiens and more recently manager at Winnipeg, will be pleased to learn that he has been promoted to the post of assistant general manager for Ontario of the Bank of Montreal. The appointment was announced this week.

The Okanagan Auto Sports Club, organizers of Sunday's Knox Mt. hill climb, have been congratulated by city council. Mayor R. F. Parkinson said at Tuesday night's council meeting the hill climb was a terrific success and the young sports car people were well-behaved. City engineer E. F. Lawrence said the club was easy to work with, did an excellent job and left the hill in good condition. Mayor Parkinson said the event brought much good publicity for Kelowna.

Members of the Aviation Council of B.C. are apparently impressed with Kelowna and its convention facilities. Mayor R. F. Parkinson told city council Tuesday night the flyers were so pleased with things at their recently-concluded convention that they decided to return to Kelowna at the same time next year.

Remember when there was no rock and roll and the popular sounds were those of Harry James, Glen Miller, Guy Lombardo and Louis Armstrong? Well, it's all returning on Saturday, from 9 p.m. to 12 p.m. at the Centennial Hall, when the Kelowna Secondary School Music Association presents a "Remember When" dance. Everyone who likes to waltz and fox trot is invited to attend. Proceeds from the dance go toward purchasing band and orchestra uniforms for the school.

EIGHT FOOT-NINE INCH PROBLEM

This telephone pole at the Doyle Ave. and Ellis St. intersection, sits eight feet, nine inches out in the roadway from the sidewalk. Ald. J. W. Bedford contacted Okanagan Telephone Co. officials in Vernon today and was assured the pole would be moved "by this fall." The pole, complete with yellow warning light, has been a constant troublemaker and several cars have made left turns between the pole and the sidewalk. The telephone company told Ald. Bedford the pole would be removed when "certain details are worked out regarding a communications line attached to the pole."

$15,000 Prize For Hydro Races Here In July

A total of $15,000 will be given in cash prizes for the British Columbia Cup unlimited hydroplane races in Kelowna July 13 to 17, with top prize being $4,000.

Official prize money for the next 11 places will be $3,200; $2,200; $1,600; $1,100; $750; $550; $350; $250; $200; $115 and $125. Each boat making a legal start will receive an additional $500.

Cash prizes and the British Columbia Cup will be awarded for the fastest lap of the entire race, including four days of heats plus the final race and the fastest lap of the day.

Harry Woods, unlimited hydroplane co-ordinator for the American Power Boat Association, said the Kelowna Boat Racing Association is doing an excellent job preparing for the big race.

Mr. Woods, who has organized more than 300 hydroplane races, said he is "more than happy with the tremendous progress that has been made." He praised the KPBA at a recent meeting of the organizers in Kelowna.

The new Miss Bardahl, first entry for the race, is giving driver Ron Musson and his boat crew troubles. Mr. Musson has been testing the craft on Lake Washington and reports it vibrates at high speeds, seems out of balance and has a flutter in the stabilizing rudder.

He was driving the new boat at 150 mph recently when it suddenly jumped clear of the water and hooked slightly to the left.

Bardahl hopes to have the problems solved before the first race of the season in Tampa, Fla., June 8 to 12, before coming to Kelowna.

Indian Pole Goes Missing
Mrs. Tom Capozzi, Okanagan Mission, told police at 9:15 p.m. Tuesday, another vehicle struck her car on Pandosy St., near Rose Ave., causing damage estimated at $25.

The driver failed to remain at the scene.

Glen Cornal, Rutland, told police at 7:40 a.m. today, some animal entered his chicken coop during the night and destroyed 25 pullets. Police said tracks at the scene indicate it was a dog.

Mrs. Lydia Heck, 1389 Bertram St., reported the theft of an ornamental carved Indian head pole from her lawn sometime within the past few days. The head had silver feathers.

LOWEST IN MANY YEARS

Water Level Down In Valley

During the past two weeks the Okanagan mountain snow pack has undergone a greater than average water equivalent decrease. The Mission Creek snow course has the third lowest May 15 water equivalent in 18 years.

The water resources service of the B.C. water investigations branch reported in its monthly snow survey bulletin that the Silver Star snow course has a water equivalent which is 67 per cent of the average equivalent, worked out during a seven year period.

The forecast May to July inflow to Okanagan Lake has been reduced, due to a greater than usual May 15 snowline, a below-average May 15 higher elevation mountain snowpack and below-average accumulated precipitation for the first two weeks of May.

The bulletin said outflow regulation will be maintained in the lowest practical range, so Okanagan Lake will retain as much storage water as possible.

In the Similkameen region, snow conditions are reported to be much the same as the Okanagan. River temperatures projected a rise in the Similkameen's warm stage up to May 10, but since that date the river has been gradually receding.

Kelowna Rotarians Told Of India's Many Problems

Teaching the citizens of India that their country is carried by 19 per cent of the only answer to their many problems, a retired UNICEF worker said in Kelowna Tuesday.

Dr. Donald Faris, was a field representative for the applied nutrition program for UNICEF. He returned to Kelowna in April. He said taking food to India is only a stop gap until the people learn to do things themselves.

The only way to give them self respect and to make them strong is to make them self-reliant," he said, speaking to the regular luncheon meeting of the Kelowna Rotary Club.

BARE EXISTENCE
He said UNICEF embarked on a $7,000,000 program in 1959 with India, under a five-year effort to build up food production and enrich the basic diet.

Dr. Faris said in one state 50 per cent of the people live in one-room shacks, barely existing on a starvation diet. They do not have enough food to give them strength to do more he said.

Beaver Lake Fishermen Encounter Extra Expense

Two fishermen at Beaver Lake May 22, had a few unexpected expenses added to their fishing trip.

James Clarke was fined $25 in magistrate's court today on a charge of angling for fish without a licence and Peter McLea, $15, charged with taking more game fish than the limit allowed. Both pleaded guilty without appearing in court.

Robert Frank Hammen, Gertmar Rd., pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his licence was under suspension, and was remanded in custody to June 1, pending a report from the probation officer.

The court was told it was the second charge in two months and the accused had "an unenviable driving record during the past two years." His mother said her son was driving before he asked him to assist in the probation officer.

Mary Blackborough, 467 Park Ave., was convicted on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way and fined $35. She was involved in an accident April 11 at Bernard Ave. and Ellis St. at 10:45 p.m.

The second driver was Ed.

U.S. Singers Here June 11

A Wenatchee, Wash. choir will be brought to Kelowna June 11 by the Kelowna Rotary Club.

The Apollo Club will present a program of folk songs, hymns, songs from America's past and songs from Norway, in the Community Theatre, at 8 p.m.

The choir has been singing for the communities of Central Washington for 56 years. Members include mechanics, salesmen, orchardists, teachers, barbers, engineers and business men.

The choir has a twofold purpose, enjoying good music and acting as ambassadors of goodwill.

The Kelowna Rotary Club has kept the ticket cost to a minimum at the request of the choir, so it may act to a full house.

"Let's assure them of one," said Ian Greenwood, Rotarian in charge of the program.

Harvey Ave. Traffic Light Will Have To Wait Until '67

The department of highways has offered to pay half the cost of installing a traffic light at the Harvey Ave.-Ellis St. intersection but the city has not budgeted for the project this year.

The provincial offer was contained in a letter to city council written after the city requested a traffic survey of all highways and feeder roads within the city limits.

The letter said the city's request was written in general terms and the highways department had no authorization to conduct studies other than those regarding arterial highways.

The department said it had fairly recent information on all major Kelowna intersections and arterials.

The department offered to help pay for the traffic light only if the city would connect Ellis St. with Marshall St. near Mill Creek.

NO MONEY

Mayor R. F. Parkinson said there was no money in the 1966 budget for the connection project, although the city had planned the link. He said money for the project had been allocated, but was cut at the last minute while the 1966 budget was being reduced prior to presentation two weeks ago.

In its letter to the government the city said a survey of all highways and feeder routes was long overdue. The department said its recent survey of main intersections showed there were traffic control lights at every one except Ellis and Harvey.

The department said it did not know of any other intersection where signals might be warranted.

The possibility of a signal at the Highway 97-Burton Rd. intersection and possible advantages of delayed green lights on Pandosy and Becker Streets are being checked by the department.

Mayor Parkinson suggested that the road extension be included in next year's budget, so the Harvey Ave. traffic control could be installed and that Victoria be kept informed of the city's plans.

COUNCIL AT WORK

Construction details for Kelowna's centennial museum project are now being discussed by city council. At Tuesday's council meeting aldermen decided to wait for more correspondence on building details and discuss the matter again next Monday.

The museum will be built in the civic centre near the regional library building.

A public hearing will be held in Victoria June 9 at which time the Public Utilities Commission will consider an application by Westbank to be included in Okanagan Telephone's Kelowna exchange system. City council was advised of the hearing because inclusion of Westbank would have an effect on Kelowna subscribers' rates.

CENTENNIAL REMINDER

This colorful display at the main entrance to Kelowna's courthouse reminds all users of the building that British Columbia is celebrating two centennials; this year the union of Vancouver Island with Mainland B.C. and in 1967 the 100th anniversary of Canada's confederation.

Woman Doctor Combines Domestic and Medical Duties

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Janet Ross is one general practitioner who hasn't time for obstetrical cases. She's too busy combining her duties as wife of a university president with other medical responsibilities to wait for babies who won't keep to a timetable.

"I don't ignore them completely," she says. "I start looking after them once they are born."

The social and family life of Janet Ross has become complicated since her husband, Dr. Murray Ross, was named president of Toronto's York University.

Monday-morning telephone conversations between his social secretary and her medical secretary go something like this:

"My Dr. Ross wants your Dr. Ross to attend these functions this week. Also my Dr. Ross won't be home for dinner Tuesday and Thursday nights."

The medical Dr. Ross doesn't really mind. Being in on the development of a new university has been a wonderful experience, she says.

Besides, the two Ross children no longer require much time from their parents. Susan, a home economics graduate of Acadia University, her father's alma mater in Wolfville, N.S., is doing postgraduate work and Robert, an arts and science student at Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B., is considering a medical career.

DIDN'T PRACTICE Janet Ross graduated from the University of Toronto in 1938. She was married in 1940.

Her husband's doctorate is an academic one.

"We met at a social workers' conference when he was program director of the national YMCA," she says.

Dr. Ross did not try to continue her medical practice while her children were small, but she did keep up her medical interests. She was for three years director of the division of maternal and child hygiene for the National Welfare Council, and she worked in out-patient and well-baby clinics. She also did research at the Babies' Hospital at Columbia University in

New York while her husband was taking an advanced degree at the university.

Before returning to private practice 11 years ago, Dr. Ross interned for a year at the Hospital for Sick Children and Women's College Hospital in Toronto.

The university atmosphere is nothing new for her. Her father, the late Col. W. R. Lang, was a professor of chemistry at the University of Toronto, where he founded the Canadian Officers' Training Corps and was professor of military studies.

Dr. Ross believes that women doctors no longer need to disguise their femininity.

Dr. Ross shares her office with two other doctors, a man and a woman, and takes her turn being "on call" to patients one night out of every three.

Her contributions to York University, she says, are on the social level. Freshmen teas, formal balls and sports meet are some of the students' events the Rosses attend. As the wife of the president, Dr. Ross must also attend other official events and entertain a great deal. Small parties are held at their off-campus house, larger ones at one of their clubs or at the university. A president's residence is still to be built at the university.

Dr. Ross spent some time last year in what she calls "herfests" with women undergraduates at the university. Sex was a frequent topic, but Dr. Ross doesn't think university students should be criticized for discussing sex openly.

"Perhaps women were more reticent about open discussion of the topic when I was in college, but sex is a subject that now is universally discussed by all generations."

The program, under the direction of Mr. A. W. Bailey of B. C. Properties, ranged all the way from horse racing to fishing on the lake. Dance music by the Eldorado, the roast sucking pig turning on the outdoor spit under Cap Capozzi's capable direction were among the highlights.

Bill Tobin, sales manager for the company, was on hand to conduct guests through the new Finty development on the 3000 acre estate.

Minor Installations Provide Much Needed Bathroom Space

By ELEANOR ROSS

Minor installations can make major improvements in the bathroom, and no room improvement program is more rewarding.

Want some for instances? Have one or more shelves along the wall over the bathtub to hold extra towels, cosmetics, soap, bath salt, dusting powder—even a growing plant. Have the shelves enclosed with sliding panels.

DOOR CHANGE Replace the standard swinging door with a sliding door to create more elbow room. This can be a folding plastic affair or a wooden sliding door on a metal track. Department stores have 'em.

Install a large, attractive peg-board on one wall—perhaps over the bathtub—to hang and store grooming and bathing gadgets—even children's toys. Small glass shelves can also be fitted onto the peg-board to hold heavier and bulkier items. This is useful to the entire family—until the lower sections reserved for the youngsters.

SPACE-MAKING MOVE Double the medicine cabinet space by placing a second unit next to it if space permits.

Put in a vanity-type lavatory in place of the conventional wash basin. The enlarged top forms a counter, and cabinets can be built underneath to provide storage space and to camouflage the pipes.

Attach a shallow metal storage cabinet to the longest wall. These cupboards contain numerous storage shelves, and some come equipped with a full-length mirror on the door.

ANN LANDERS

The Guy Sounds Like Bad News In Spades

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl with a serious problem. Several months ago my father was killed in an automobile accident. My mother was injured in the same accident but not seriously.

The driver of the other car was a young man 21 years of age. He was charged with involuntary manslaughter. The court proceedings lasted a long time and I got to know the boy very well. When the verdict was handed down I was terribly happy because I had become very fond of him.

My mother insists he was guilty regardless of the verdict. She says he was speeding and that he had on the stand. She hates the sight of him and wouldn't think of letting her that I've been seeing him several times.

Please tell me what to do. This boy could be the big love of my life — ODETTA

Dear Odetta: There are plenty of boys around without picking the one who killed your father—even if it was an accident.

This guy sounds like bad news in spades. Forget him. Your mother has had enough heartache.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is not important, but it bothers me. Whenever we have guests for dinner my husband compliments me on the food in the presence of the guests. I think this puts the guests on the spot. They think they must say something nice about my cooking and it makes me uncomfortable.

My husband often compliments me when there are no guests present but of course they don't know this. Should I ask him to please stop praising the food when company is around? — PROCEDURE IN YONKERS

Dear Yonkers: Your husband sounds like a living doll. Don't put a damper on his compliments either in private or in the presence of company.

Brownies Earn Golden 'Wings'

Six Brownies from the First Kelowna Brownie Pack followed a trail of golden footprints to Kelowna on Wednesday, May 18, to receive their Golden Wings.

These girls earned their Wings and Golden Hand Badge by completing all the Brownie tests in the time limit set by the Girl Guide Association. The First Kelowna Guide Company welcomed them with a candlelight ceremony, using blue and gold candles representing the threefold Promise and the Law that a Guide makes at her enrollment.

Darlene Yochim and her Can-Am Patrol took their turn arranging the program for the evening which included a singing, an amusing skit, with fun and games to show the new girls that Guiding has its solemn moments there is plenty of time for enjoyment too.

The new recruits are: Ellen Simpson, Janice Flint, Susan Larson, Dawnella Janzen, Barbara Freeman, Janice Dickens.

Musical Program Features Trumpets

A musical evening is scheduled for the First United Church in Kelowna May 20.

A program of orchestral, choral and instrumental music will be presented at the church beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Special feature of the program will be a trumpet trio featuring Bob Schellenberg, Art Enns and Bill Decker. The trio will be accompanied by Richard Thrak on piano.

As on previous occasions, there will be music in which the congregation will be asked to participate.

Four choirs and an orchestra are included on the program.

Miss Eleanor Riches, of West Vancouver, was in Kelowna this weekend to attend the Gant Monaghan wedding. While here she stayed at the home of her aunt, Mrs. F. E. Lewis.

Miss M. E. Lalonde, from the University of British Columbia in Vancouver, is spending three weeks holidaying in Kelowna. She is staying at the Caravel Motor Inn.

Mrs. Charles Ross, of East Kelowna, was visited this weekend by her son, Ken, of Vancouver and Don Martin, of Kamloops. Both men work at Vancouver.

Some members of the Simon Fraser swim team visited Kelowna over the holiday. Mrs. E. E. Pelly entertained her son Ted and three of his friends, John Farrell and Bob Novak of Toronto, and Grant Carrier of Vancouver. Mr. Carrier is captain of the swimming team.

Rev. Joseph Monaghan, of Vancouver, flew in to Kelowna Saturday to assist at the Gant Monaghan wedding. Father Monaghan is the great uncle of the bride.

Wing Cmdr. and Mrs. John Cooper, of Comox, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hawker this weekend.

Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Leiske from Lodi, Calif., visited relatives and friends in the Okanagan enroute to Alberta. Dr. Leiske received his early education at Lacombe, Alberta at Canadian Union College. He is a graduate of Loma Linda University in California. He was an early medical superintendent of the Bethesda Hospital near Sydney on Vancouver Island. For the past three decades Dr. Leiske has been in private practice in Lodi, California.

Home for a visit from College Heights, Alberta, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haynes and their new baby daughter.

Weekend visitors at the home of Mrs. G. Steinkamp were Mr. and Mrs. A. Steinkamp and Mr. and Mrs. S. Steinkamp and their families from Millet, Alberta, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ritchie and family of Williams Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schafer of Edmonton.

Visiting at the home of Mrs. Dan Reine of Gertman Road for the weekend were her two sons, Mr. and Mrs. John Reine and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reine.

Chapter Installs 1966 Executive

Mrs. Fred Gerlinger was installed as president of the Alpha Epsilon chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi at the association's May meeting.

Other officers installed were: Mrs. Doug Mervyn, vice president; Mrs. Cliff Serwa, secretary; and Miss Mary Stefank, treasurer.

Ushering duty is in store for members this month.

Four volunteers were recruited at the meeting to usher at the May 21 Folk Festival.

Members will also usher at the B.C. Drama Association Final One-Act Festival June 1-4. The festival, sponsored by the Kelowna Little Theatre and the University Women's Club of Kelowna, will be held at the Kelowna Community Theatre.

A farewell gift was presented to Miss Sheila Davison who leaves for England May 20. Miss Davison is taking advantage of a Beta Sigma Phi Tour.

A pot-luck supper is being held for members on May 25. Mrs. J. G. Mervyn, the chapter's social sponsor, is holding the party at her home.

The May meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Doug Mervyn. Co-hostesses were Mrs. A. Bennie and Miss Lorraine Como.

Bored? You don't have to be

Nobody is born bored. But sometimes, between childhood (when even a piece of wood can seem exciting) and adulthood (when food and cake only means extra calories), our enthusiasm begins to fade—and we become bored. The June issue of Reader's Digest tells you why it happens—and how you can avoid being bored, even when what you're doing may not seem very exciting. Learn the secret of sparking new enthusiasm in your life—in the new issue of Reader's Digest, on sale today.

Yard Makes Passes At Men Who Wear Glasses

LONDON (CP) — Shattering all tradition, the world-famous London Yard may soon be appearing on the list of "places to go" with spectacles. "This isn't so bad," said Canadian-born Superintendent David Lavery in commenting on what one London newspaper described as: "The Yard makes passes at men who wear glasses."

"We have been asking for the moon in the past," quipped 40-year-old Lavery today. "The eye standards we demand are superior to those for fighter pilots. We can afford something less."

With a current force of 18,450 — about 6,500 under strength — London police are mounting a more dynamic recruiting drive. The age ceiling for recruits has been increased to 45 from 30, and those who cannot pass the eye test will be fitted with special spectacles including unbreakable plastic lenses.

Tom Meier, in charge of recruiting, said Tuesday that along with bespectacled and older men, the force will consider Negro recruits.

MORE ARE CANADIANS
London police can accept recruits from all parts of the Commonwealth. Superintendent Lavery estimated in an interview that about a dozen are Canadian.

Wartime adjutant of the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa, Lavery is a native of Spencerville, Ont., who lived for a while in Ottawa. He went to Britain in 1948 and joined the London force as a constable, moving up to sergeant and then to his present position.

He is married to an English girl and has three children. "It is a wonderful life and I would not have changed it for anything," Lavery said. "This is a chance to combine service with excellent variety."

MANY SAIL SOUTH
South Africa's best year for immigration was 1964, with 65,000 arrivals.

FIND OLD FOUNDATION
FACTORY, N.S. (CP) — Builders building a new ramp to the harbor gateway unearthed a circular brick wall. Local historians think it was in the foundations of early settler houses, perhaps as old as the 18th century.

CLEAN UP CITY STREETS
MONTREAL (CP) — The city transportation commission plans to remove 2,000 poles and 10 miles of trolley-bus wire before the 1967 Montreal World's Fair begins. Diesel buses will replace the electric models.

Provincial Election Likely Early Fall

The last provincial election in this province was on September 30, 1961. On that date this coming September, it will be three years and just about time for another general vote if the pattern of the Bennett administration is to be followed.

There has been a great deal of speculation during the past five months that an election would be called in June. This we just could not see, although the politically astute Mr. Bennett is known to prefer a spring vote and preferably late May.

It is quite true that the government could stay in office until September, 1966, the full five years permissible. But such a possibility is just that, a possibility and a remote one at that. Mr. Bennett is known to be violently opposed to a five-year term. His reasoning is simple. A government that stays in office the full term does so because the political climate is such that it dare not go to the people earlier. A government that stays the full five years is almost invariably defeated. It will be extreme circumstances indeed which will persuade Mr. Bennett to go into his fifth year.

In fact, the reverse is true. The pattern of his government has been one of calling early general elections, even in the second and third year.

And there are compelling reasons why an election will be called this fall. Late September or early October, 1965, which would be the fourth year of the present government, is Canada's centennial celebration and obviously a general election, even a provincial one, is undesirable during that year. To have one during that year would create considerable resentment among many voters and no government is going to do that if it can be avoided. Even a government as apparently firmly entrenched as the present provincial administration.

This is especially true as the basic campaign cry of the government slowly emerges. The key to this was given, we think, in a speech made a few days ago by Hon. P. A. Gagliardi. The highways minister said this province had never before seen a time of such abounding prosperity. "Then along came the federal government and pulled the rug from under us by introducing this austerity business," he is reported as saying by the Canadian Press.

Mr. Gagliardi's remarks are particularly interesting as there is no real provincial excuse for a general election at this time. There is no real controversial matter and a "legitimate" excuse for an election would be hard to find.

Yet the government does need some strong talking point during the campaign. Mr. Gagliardi's remarks suggest that strong talking point is going to be an attack on Ottawa.

If our supposition is correct, we may expect to hear Mr. Bennett and his cohorts harping constantly on the theme of mistreatment of the province by the federal government. They will be saying something such as this: "There is chaos and anarchy in Ottawa, therefore it is most important we have a strong provincial government. The only way this can be obtained is to return us with a large majority in the Legislature."

If — and there is always an "if" in political speculations — this reading of the political situation is correct, obviously it is most important that the election campaign be not waged during Canada's birthday year. To do so in 1967 would be in poor taste and would be resented.

This means the election must be in 1966 or 1968. However, we know that Mr. Bennett definitely dislikes the fifth year, so it may be assumed that 1968 is out. That leaves 1966.

Obviously it is now too late to call an election in June, July and August are most unlikely months; politicians shun them. An early September vote would mean August campaigning which is also generally frowned upon for obvious reasons. Mid-September remains a possibility but the probability is late September or early October.

Only fools make predictions on horseback and politics. However, we are sticking our necks out and predicting a British Columbia general election sometime between mid-September and mid-October.

Pickle Week Is Out

Every dog may have his day, but not in New York. From now on, Mayor John Lindsay has bravely decided, the mayor's office is going to stop issuing proclamations for most "days" and "weeks" that have received them in the past. The mayor has just refused to proclaim national pickle week. The pickle makers are so angry that they charge the mayor is trying to abolish pickles because he gets into so many of them politically.

Parents without partners week, operating room nurses' day, family doctor week, alien address report month and many others will no longer be recognized officially. The mayor even sounded the death knell for Queen Anna Maria day. This has long been proclaimed, but the mayor's aids couldn't find anyone who knew why or even who Queen Anna Maria was.

The mayor isn't going to do away with all days or weeks—just those he feels are religious, political or commercial. For example, he recently proclaimed Greek Independence day.

To qualify for a proclamation an organization must be local, reputable, authorized, sizable and generally praiseworthy. It will cut down proclamations from more than 300 a year to about 60.

Mayor Lindsay's new rules deserve to be copied in city halls and capitols across the continent.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

DANDELIONS DEFENDED

It was somewhat perturbed and astonished to discover from a recent article in the Courier that the dandelion is regarded as a noxious weed and property holders who do not destroy it are liable to prosecution. Evidently our city fathers prefer looking at ugly scars of brown, baked earth along our roadsides and vacant lots to that of cool green grass dotted with golden globes which provide food for bees, humming birds and countless insects.

Young dandelion leaves are an excellent healthy addition to salads, being used by most European countries as we use lettuce.

The dried root is much in demand by herbalists for approved medicinal remedies. As for the flower itself, any mother will tell you that her young offspring regard it as the most beautiful flower in the world, and a jam jar is always found for the offerings.

The most appalling thing to my mind is the indiscriminate use of more and more "effective" (?) sprays which not only eliminate the pests and weeds but also the birds and insects. Robins, songbirds, orioles, bluebirds, humming birds, geese, and butterflies become scarce every year. For instance, the codling moth can't stand the chemical sprays which are used to protect the fruit trees. The most appalling thing to my mind is the indiscriminate use of more and more "effective" (?) sprays which not only eliminate the pests and weeds but also the birds and insects.

It would seem that Mother Nature sometimes rebels at man's interference with the balance of nature in his greed for bigger and better orchards and sends a killing frost.

I believe there is a ranch in the Okanagan which is practicing organic husbandry and who claim there is a plant repellent to every pest. The codling moth can't stand the natural repellent. What a joy it would be to see a wreath of these attractive flowers around every apple tree and the birds safe in their nests!

In some of the eastern provinces much progress is being gained by cultivating certain insects which destroy pests. To return to the weed to the garden: on a TV program last week, a vast array of poisons were being extolled in which weeds were to be exterminated. The one for the lawn, we were told, could be carried by the feet of a pet into the flower beds and kill the flowers! When I watch my cat licking his paws and washing his face I wonder what would happen to him if I were too lazy to bend my back to use the cheap, effective weed-puller one can buy at any hardware and instead resorted to the suggested lethal means of acquiring a weed-free lawn!

While on the subject of upsetting the balance of nature, many of us will remember the plague of mice which overran the orchards and destroyed acres of young trees. The bounty on coyotes and the slaughter of every deer was directly responsible for the invasion — mice being the main winter diet of the coyotes and wolves.

Our beloved Okanagan may never be a dust bowl but are we not heading for a "Silent Spring"?

DORA BAILLIE.

Indians Facing Bitter Drought

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — India faces a water shortage which in the hot summer weeks ahead could prove an even greater scourge than the famine now striking many parts of the country.

Last year's drought, the worst in 80 years, spoiled crops and left cupboards bare. It also completely dried up wells and ponds where the water level is normally low at this time of the year.

In the semi-desert state of Rajasthan, in the west, and such southern states as Maharashtra and Orissa, village women trek up to five miles a day with clay pitchers to bring back water for their families.

In one region of Andhra state, police are guarding trains to prevent thirsty villagers from staging holdups and taking water from the locomotive tanks. All over the country swamps have turned to beds of cracked, rock-hard clay. Rivers have diminished to a trickle. It will be another six weeks before the monsoon rains reach most parts of the country, turning the rivers into torrents and the swamps into vast lakes, which villagers often have to cross by boat to get supplies.

TEMPERATURES SOAR

Meantime, temperatures with steadily rise to between 105 and 115 degrees. In this heat a man needs nine pints of liquid a day to keep fit.

Emergency relief efforts are concentrated upon eking out water supplies until the monsoon deluge comes. No one dares ask what will happen if the monsoon fails again. If it does, many persons are certain eventually to die of thirst. Some might not even live to see their next crops withered by the drought.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Slouching Habit Can Be Cured

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend recently told me that her daughter is doing exercises under direction of a physical therapist to correct lordosis.

I had always heard that such posture was hereditary and nothing could be done about it. My 11-year-old daughter has a very severe sway-back posture. Could we expect any noticeable improvement through exercise if she is too old? Why do some children continue to have this unattractive posture? Should we consult an orthopedist? —B.W.

Saying that poor posture (including lordosis or "sway-back") is hereditary amounts to giving up without a battle. Still, going into a program of exercise without knowing the cause of the trouble is not likely to help much. So yes, I distinctly favor seeing an orthopedist.

Posture defects obviously sometimes are the result of slouching until the slouch becomes a habit and in time the habit becomes a permanent flaw.

Again, poor posture may be the result — it has in the past, anyway — of some such disease as polio. There have been cases that seemed so mild that they were not recognized at the time. All the same, muscular weakness in some area throws the back out of perfect alignment. Such a distortion can become gradually worse.

In other cases, there is the possibility of some actual deformity of the spinal structure. An orthopedist can find out what the situation really is. You can't. He then can advise whether nothing can be done, or whether exercises will help, or whether some vigorous treatment may be wise.

Exercises are often effective before the bones of the spine become too rigidly fixed. At the age of 11 proper exercise may still be very useful — but time is getting short. Consult an orthopedist now.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is sea air preferable for one who has emphysema, or is a warm, dry climate better? —T.L.

Dry air is better. Sea air, of course, is usually moist. Your opinion on having moles removed? I have several that could be irritated by undergarments. One started to bleed and my doctor said I should have it removed. Can this safely be done in his office? I was under the impression that if a mole was cut out, you could get cancer — MRS. R.C.

You don't get cancer from cutting into a mole. The point is this: Of the billions of moles that exist, a small percentage may become cancerous, especially if irritated. Removal of a suspicious mole puts an end to that danger.

This does not mean that all moles should be removed. Rather, remove a mole if it changes in size or color, or if it repeatedly is irritated, or if it bleeds without apparent reason.

Removal can be and usually is done in the doctor's office.

Newfies Arrives For B.C. Work

VANCOUVER (CP) — The quest for good working prospects and a better standard of living brought 15 Newfoundland fishermen to the west coast.

Nearly all married, the men came to join a whaling fleet for a six-month season from Coal Harbor, at the northern end of Vancouver Island. Their passages were paid by B.C. Packers, which runs the fleet with a Japanese syndicate.

"We can make as much as $4,000 in a single season here," said Charlie Grant, 36, one of the group.

"That's much more than we'd ever get in the summer season back home."

"On this job we get a guarantee of $300 a month, whales or no whales. In Newfoundland, there are no guarantees."

Grant, John Fortie, 44, Cyril Price, 22, and Albert Dodge, 30, are all crewmembers aboard the West-Whale, a 150-foot, 850-ton vessel in Western Canada Whaling's fleet.

Captain Akira Okiyoshi, from Japan, says the Newfoundlanders are far superior to most west coast sailors.

OTTAWA REPORT

Pollution Poses Great Problem

By PATRICK NEWMAN

Pollution is one of the greatest problems facing Canada today. Yet pollution, like U.S.A. control of our industry, urban redevelopment and a national transportation policy, is an issue whose solution we are doing nothing about. It is a heavy addition to the legacy of expense and trouble which we are seemingly quite content to leave to our children.

The urgency to halt pollution was given strong vocal support and an amusing new twist by Health Minister Allan Rock in a recent speech.

"One of the prime objectives of my Department of National Health and Welfare," he said, "is to be aware of potentially harmful factors in our daily contacts, and to determine the effects of such environmental factors on the health of people." He went on to describe how three divisions in his department are concerned with various aspects of pollution — of water, of air and through environmental radiation.

But in the environmental health realm, there is no problem of greater significance than the control and elimination of pollution of our water, he said.

ALMIGHTY DOLLAR

The Minister took a hearty slap at commercial interests which display the greatest economy in their utilization of our natural resources, indicating that business is too cavalier and lacking in responsibility in the way it, for instance, dumps commercial waste into our lakes and rivers without first purifying it. Why does business do this? Because this would cost money and hence reduce profits to mental purification apparatus.

"We as a nation — and this applies to governments as well as to individuals, groups and corporations — have been a little bit too blasé about the corrosive consequences of civilization and progress on many of our natural resources and amenities. We are only now beginning to realize that our great natural resources are exhaustible, and in some cases, irreplaceable, even though we perhaps have more of them than most other countries."

I can remember J. W. Murphy, MP from Kamloops, protesting about the then Liberal government of Mackenzie King failing to enact legislation to halt pollution of our waterways. I can remember John Diefenbaker introducing a private member's bill, after the Saskaatchewan River at Prince Albert was polluted with commercial waste from Alberta — so much so, he once told me, that guests at parties in Prince Albert were invited to bring their own pure drinking water. I recall Bart Herridge introducing a similar bill aimed against pollution of our waters. The failure to act in these earlier years has aggravated our problems today.

NEW POLLUTION

Allan MacEwan then referred to "a new type of pollution — and I hesitate to suggest what the federal government can or should do about it. The World Health Organization calls it 'mental pollution' and warns that it may become a hazard comparable to air or water pollution."

Mental pollution, he explained, is caused in part by the noise in big cities, such as the roar of traffic, the shouting of neighbors, the blaring of transistor radios — and even the clamour of campaigning politicians.

This, he said, is a novel and interesting way of describing a problem which residents of big cities have long been vaguely aware of.

"However," he concluded, "I doubt whether the term 'mental pollution' has much of a future. Legitimate though it may one day be as an excuse for an employee to stay home from work, it somehow wouldn't ring right with the boss when he's told that 'Smith called in to say he is mentally polluted this morning, and can't come to work.'"

Manitoba Sets Up Sporting Group

WINNIPEG (CP) — A sports organization has been set up to improve recreation opportunities for employees of Manitoba industry and business.

Already 50 member firms have signed up, and officers have been elected.

The objective of the Manitoba Recreation Association is to help any firm develop recreation programs for its employees by pooling ideas and experience. This way, a company which has never before held a golf tournament, dance or bonspiel, or set up a bowling league, can find out how to go about it and how much it will cost.

CANADA'S STORY

Quebec Scandal Resulted In Poll

By BOB BOWMAN

What might be called Canada's first elections resulted from a political scandal in Quebec. The Company of 100 Associates, established by Cardinal Richelieu to look after the development of Canada, had been functioning badly. On May 25, 1860, King Louis XIV appointed Peronne Dumesnil to go to Quebec to investigate its affairs. There is little doubt that he uncovered evidence of crooked dealings, because a number of efforts were made to scare him away.

His son was attacked on a street and died as the result of a beating. Then two men, believed to be the ringleaders of the crooks, went to Dumesnil's home, gagged and tied him to a chair, while they went through his files. They carried off the incriminating evidence.

Dumesnil was not to be scared away. He caused such an uproar in Quebec that some of the members of the governing council had him put in jail before the last ship left for France in the autumn. They hoped that Dumesnil would cool off during the winter, or the matter would be forgotten. However, Dumesnil managed to escape and got to France on another ship. He went to the king's minister Colbert with his complaints, and the charter of the company was cancelled.

In the meantime, Quebec was divided. Saffray de Mézy was the governor, but Bishop Laval was the real power. Laval had appointed certain men to the council to whom de Mézy objected, and he wanted to hold an election to replace them.

When Laval refused, de Mézy placarded Quebec with posters stating his views, urging that the councilors be dismissed. His campaign was successful to the extent that there was a vote, and Laval won the final round. He knew that King Louis and Colbert would frown on anything as democratic as elections and got word to them as quickly as possible. De Mézy was recalled immediately, but died before he could leave Quebec.

Court Rules N.W.T. Indians, Eskimos Must Obey Hunting Laws

OTTAWA (CP)—Eskimos and Indians must obey hunting and fishing laws enacted by the government of the Northwest Territories, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled Tuesday.

A unanimous judgment written by Mr. Justice Emmett Hall, said judgments of the territorial judge, J. H. Sissons, holding Eskimos and Indians are not bound by the N.W.T. game ordinances "are not good law and must be taken as having been over-ruled."

The court made its ruling in upholding a conviction of abandoning game fit for consumption against Sigcarek, a White Cove Eskimo.

A. E. Williams of Yellowknife, who appeared for Sigcarek, admitted his client had killed three caribou in July, 1964, and took home only parts of the animals. The rest was found in a decomposed condition later by the RCMP.

Mr. Williams said a 1963 royal proclamation gives Eskimos and Indians unfettered hunting rights. The council could not enact laws taking away these rights.

The court's written judgment said the royal proclamation excluded lands owned by the Hudson's Bay Company at the time and that the offence took place on what once was HBC land.

It said Parliament has conferred legislative powers on the territorial council. Parliament also approved the ordinance governing game and said they applied to all N.W.T. residents.

Two years ago Judge Sissons dismissed a charge of abandoning game against Francis Kallinar, a Baker Lake Eskimo.

He said that case was important because it involved traditional hunting rights and whether "the rule of law or the will and interest of the colonial civil service bureaucracy which governs the Northwest Territories shall prevail."
